

New challenge: KitzSkiWelt entices with the longest ski circuit in the world

(Hohe Salve / Brixental) One thing is clear: you have to take the first gondola, you can't take a long lunch break and you need thighs of steel. The longest ski circuit in the world with 88 kilometres of downhill skiing and 17,232 metres of altitude difference, which runs through the Region Hohe Salve and the Brixental valley, even makes professionals sweat. The new challenge was already created last winter by merging the sophisticated KitzSki with the family-friendly SkiWelt Wilder Kaiser - Brixental. Beginners and pleasure skiers also benefit from the new KitzSkiWelt: guests can find the best entrances in 14 villages and helpful route tips in any level of difficulty on the website at www.kitzskiwelt.at. If you like, you can plan your favourite tour in advance on the interactive ski map. Which makes the fun on the slopes even easier: In the entire KitzSkiWelt, guests can travel free of charge and in an environmentally conscious manner by ski bus.

One thing is clear: this challenge has it all! But it also offers lots of sport and fun.
